"INCLUSIVE GROWTH AND

ABOUT THE INSTITUTION

Founded by the illustrious educationist and veteran freedom fighter Dr. T.S. Avinashilingam Ayya and nurtured by Dr. Rajammal P. Devadas the world renowned nutritionist and educationalist, this institute aims at inculcating ethical, moral and social values and provides opportunities for all round development of students. The institution stresses on self development and empowerment of women through scientific and value based education to enable them to lead a purposeful life filled with moral and spiritual values. With its motto 'Seek and ye shall Find', young women are groomed to become responsible citizens and usher in new innovations for the advancement of the society. It also promotes communal harmony in the multi religious and multi cultural reality of India.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Economics started its undergraduate course in the year 1958 and by 1975 was elevated to offer Masters' Programme and by 1988 became full-fledged research department offering M.Phil. and Ph.D. programmes. The department has a unique syllabus which bridges the gap between the traditional and modernity by incorporating recent developments in the curriculum. Besides teaching and outreach programmes the department has completed five major projects and two minor projects funded by UGC, CSO, MSSRF and ICSSR. The enriching research background of the department facilitated the sanctioning of the Ambedkar Study Centre by the UGC under the XI plan. Through different programmes and activities, the Department has been making constant efforts to raise its academic, intellectual and scholastic standards. Various workshops, seminars and conferences have been organized from time to time which had strengthened both the teaching and research activities of the department.

THEME OF THE CONFERENCE

Development theory has come a long way over the last century. It began with focus on economic growth and development, and eventually has reached a stage where contemporary policy emphasis is no longer only on eradicating absolute deprivation of income but on eradicating deprivation in its multiple dimensions. Researchers, governments and academia are looking at more holistic patterns than on mere growth. The multiple dimensions includes both economic and non-economic aspects, which is in appreciation of the UNDP advocacy on promoting human development. Ever since the UNDP started advocating 'Inclusive Growth', developing countries in particular have set it as an avowed goal of development policies. Though the concept is not explicitly defined, there is an implicit belief that the objective is to pursue a strategy that would provide for the inclusion of the socially and economically marginalized sections in the mainstream economy and its growth process. This conference tries to bring academicians, policy makers and researchers to a platform to discuss and probe into the different facets of inclusive growth in promoting sustainable development. The Department of Economics takes this up for India in particular under the "Make in India" mission of Hon. Prime Minister and plans to organize a two day National Conference on "Inclusive Growth and Sustainable Development" on the following themes:

- Food Security and Nutrition
- Financial inclusion and Microfinance
- Social Infrastructure and Development
- Environmental Issues and Development
- Gender and Development
- Social Exclusion and Marginalized Population
