Item No.06(143rd EC/2025/06) - To consider and approve the nomenclature change and upgradation of Bacteriology Lab to Probiotic Research Centre

Bacteriology Lab requires renaming as Probiotic Centre on the basis of following aspects. Bacteriology Lab is facilitated with equipment such as Laminar Air Flow Chamber (Basic Model), Autoclave, Incubator, Hot Air Oven and basic Light Microscopes. The Lab has long been used to carry out basic experiments such as total plate counts, Gram staining and motility of bacteria restricted to bio safety level-1 (BSL-1) for good bacteria alone. The name of Bacteriology Lab necessitates the analysis of all kinds of bacteria (including harmful bacteria) from clinical aspect and other aspects also, with the requirement of bio-safety cabinet and other bio-safety measures.

During the last two years, the exploration in the Lab has also been extended to the recent thrust area on Probiotics, which are beneficial bacteria pertaining to BSL-1. The probiotic work is focused on isolation, identification, characterization and development of probiotics for applications aligning to the present and future need of exploration of positive side of bacteria. The procedures for probiotic analysis have been standardized to offer income generated services to students from inside and outside the institution. Hence the renaming and upgrading of Bacteriology Lab to Probiotic Research Centre is justified based on the study and development of probiotics in the Lab with facilities for BSL-1.

Charges for Probiotic Analysis and Analytical Charges in Probiotic Research Centre as a part of income generation from the Centre are given in Annexure – 03.

Dr. A. Vijayalakshmi proposed and Dr. R. Shanthi seconded the motion.
